

Construction Manager in the Spotlight: Wendy Kaszycki, CCM

“I actually became aware of the CCM certification through our Client, the Los Angeles Unified School District. LAUSD encouraged both its employees and contract professionals to seek the certification. Although I am a PE, I feel that the CCM designation shows that I have had the responsibility and experience in all aspects of construction management. It is not a designation that can be earned simply by studying the right materials and passing a test. In addition, people often assume that women in construction are just in support or administration roles. Being both a PE and a CCM demonstrates the technical and practical expertise and professional competency that is recognized and respected by both clients and peers.”

Wendy Kaszycki, PE, CCM, LEED AP

Wendy Kaszycki has over 30 years of program, project and construction management experience. She is currently a Parsons Program Manager, assigned to the Los Angeles Unified School District's New Construction program as the Director of Project Controls. Previous assignments have included being the Director of Project Management for a self-performing contractor, Manager of Contracts for a CM firm and assignments on the City of Los Angeles Hyperion Wastewater project, OES Mobile Home earthquake repair program and Exxon's Prudhoe Bay and Santa Ynez projects.