Construction Law Update

Attend this seminar to learn about important legal developments in California's courts and the legislature over the last year.

Topics to be covered will include:

- California's False Claims Act
- Differing Site Conditions Claims
- Subletting and Subcontracting Fair Practices Act
- Contractors State License Law
- What if SB355 passes? (licensing of CMs)
- and other hot construction law topics of interest

You will also have an opportunity to ask questions about any subjects of specific interest to you.

Seminar Instructor

Kevin Collins, Esq., Partner, Weston Benshoof

Mr. Collins specializes in construction industry business litigation and transactions regarding public and private works of improvement. He represents construction clients during all phases of the construction process and has extensive experience preparing procurement and contract documents for public and private projects. Mr. Collins has represented construction clients in ADR proceedings, at trial, on appeal and at administrative proceedings before governmental agencies. Mr. Collins has specific expertise in the prosecution and defense of construction claims involving competitive bidding, delays and disruptions, inaccuracies and other deficiencies in plans and specifications, changed conditions, contract terminations, mechanics liens, public and private stop notices, public and private payment bond actions and enforcement of public and private performance bonds.
